can obtain possession of the same by calling at the office of Clerk of the U. S.
Circuit Court.

In Western Ward, yesterday afternoon, two little white boys engaged in the dangerous pastime of throwing stones at each other. The result was a bad scalp wound.

R. York DD. Lectures at Metropolitan Hall to-night a free Lecture—subject "Education the Nations Hope." Dr.
York's eminent services as an educator for upwards of 40 years will no doubt call forth a large and appreciative audience.

Another meeting of the citizens of Raleigh in reference to the State Agricultural Fair will take place Friday evening at Metropolitan Hall. One more and the last appeal will be made to the citizens of this place to raise the requisite amount to keep the Fair here.

THE PUBLIC SQUARES OF RALEIGH.
There were five of these squares laid out in the survey of this city—Union Square, where the Capitol stands, Burke Square, where the Male Academy stands, Park Square, now being converted in a Nash, Cassell Square, occupied by the Dea and Dumb Institute, and Moore Square, known as the Baptist Grove, from an old church which once stood upon it, and from which still remain the tower of which still remain to adorn the city.

Burke Square has long been devoted to educational purposes. A long time ago a corporation of our citizens applied for the privilege of building an academy and other educational facilities on that ground. The State gave it to them. The last of this band, the late Wm. Peace, Esq., held as Trustee until 1865, when he died and the property reverted to the commonwealth.

Raleigh sadly needs an advanced Academy for males, with teachers in the practical departments of life, and in such of the ornamental as the patronage of the institution may demand. Now is the time for our capitalists, therefore, to take hold of the matter. Let them indicate the former generation, secure a charter, the perpetual use of Burke Square, erect large, commodious buildings, employ practical teachers, and reap the harvest for themselves as well as the city.

Such an Academy would now command the patronage of the entire State of North Carolina, and not less than 300 students could be obtained under proper management. We commend these facts to the attention of our moneyed citizens, who send their boys abroad to learn when they could be better taught here, and others be induced to come, adding a substantial revenue to every branch of business in Raleigh.

We have four female Seminaries in a flourishing condition, and surely one male institution would support itself and repay its owners most handsomely.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Yesterday about 2 o'clock, P. M., the bell of Metropolitan Market House rang out the alarm of fire. The stream of the crowd led up Fayetteville street, and north of the Capitol, to the residence of Maj. A. M.
Lewis. The fire companies arrived at the spot as soon as possible, but happily the flames had been smothered and their services were not needed.

The fire originated, it seems, from sparks from a chimney, which was being burnt out, catching the rafters in a lumber room. When the flames were first discovered they had gained a considerable headway under the flooring. The prompt and judicious use of the axe, and numerous buckets of water timely applied after a while suppressed the fire. The building being a frame one its destruction would have been certain had the discovery of the flames been a few minutes later.

The damage to the building and the furniture amounted to but little. The escape of the house from total destruction was a narrow one, and we congratulate Major Lewis upon his good luck.

IS IT PISTOLS AND COFFEE?—We learn from a private source that two editors and a surgeon left Raleigh night before last, and yesterday morning one of the party took breakfast at the Railroad Hotel, at the depot in the South train.
The destination of the party was Fort Walt, S. C. What does it mean.—Charlotte Observer.

We suppose the above must refer to editors of the temperance fraternity of this city. They have been waging a herce war of words with each other for some time past.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE STATE CAP-TOL.—The present fine stone building was erected at a cost of half million dollars in gold. The wooden structure which occupied the same site was burned in 1831, and all of the records being saved, we believe, only the destruction of the celebrated statue of Washington by Canova caused serious and lasting regret. Pieces of the marble from the pedestal of this great work of art were being flung around the new building from room to room for several years before the war, but we believe they have all entirely disappeared, unless some one of them may now be in the Geological Museum here in Raleigh or in Chapel Hill. The city of Raleigh first owed its importance to the location of the Capitol building here. Six or seven of the large places in the State then, such as Edgenton, Newbern, Kinston, Fayetteville, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Charlotte and Salem, besides Asheville, we suppose were contending for this honor. Amid these conflicting interests, the Legislature finally voted the seat of government here, but the vote was scarcely deemed final, so that the place grew slowly, capital sought investments elsewhere, prejudice was created as well as fostered against the future metropolis, and the village had a rough road to travel before it numbered 5000 inhabitants, including the suburbs, which was the case only just preceding the late war.

The old Capitol building took fire on the roof. John Bragg, Esq., the father of the late Governor, a builder and architect, had secured the job of repairing the roof. Owing to the negligence of some of the workmen fire was transmitted to the wood work of that portion of the building in broad daylight from a soldering furnace, and the entire pile was consumed. No blame attached to Mr. Bragg, however, and the result has been all that Raleigh could have then hoped for.

The Legislature met in the succeeding year at the present Old Governor's palace, and after a protracted struggle, owing to the influence of the late Judge Seawell, $75,000 were first appropriated to commence the building of a new State House at Raleigh. It is also a matter of history, we believe, that the vote of Hon. Burton Craige then decided this question in favor of Raleigh over its strongest opponent at that day, the city of Fayetteville. The small appropriation, however, was not enough, rendered Judge Seawell immensely popular in this country, where his memory has still retained its influence, and also gave a moral weight to the claims of Raleigh over all other aspirants, which culminated in future liberal appropriations, and at that era in our National history in the erection of one of the finest buildings then in the United States of America.

The corner-stone of the new building, was laid by Governor Swain, July 4th, 1833. The first contractor was relieved, and a second employed.
And we believe some changes in the outward appearance of the dome and roof also effected. In 1840, seven years afterward, the building was open for occupation, and Governor Morehead was inaugurated in Commons Hall, on January 1st, 1841. Since that date, imperfect in the stone-work, except toward the southern basement corridor, have never occurred, and the pile so securely cemented seems destined to defy the tooth of time for thousands of years to come. However with the growth of our State, the building has at length become too small. Every department of government is cramped for room. Changes must be made hereafter for the accommodation of public business, and we would suggest the surrender of the present building in that case to the Legislature and Judicial Department, as the Capitol at Washington is now occupied, and the establishment of an Executive building elsewhere in the city.

The old square was surrounded at first with a rail fence. In those days deer were plentiful in this vicinity, and a fine buck was killed early one morning about 1812, grazing in the square, just in front of the present residence of Mrs. Badger. The iron fence now surrounding the park was voted in '40, we believe, and its final passage was determined at that time by the vote of Colonel Fagg, of Buncombe. Silas Burns was the contractor, and then had his foundry at the site of Tucker's Mill, on the Fayetteville road. Next came the ornamental tower inside and the erection of the bronze statue of Washington. This work was dedicated in a speech by the late Judge Romulus M.
Saunders, on the 4th of July, 1857.

There is another little fact connected with the Capitol building, which are of interest, but one only will suffice to be mentioned. The venerable William White, our former Postmaster, is authority for the statement. The location of the building was never surveyed with an instrument, but six straight poles were cut and skinned, three were in the centre of Hillsboro street, about one hundred yards westward, and three on Fayetteville, about the same distance apart southward. The line was drawn from each of them, and where they crossed on Capitol square is now marked the centre of the State Capitol. The method being necessary inaccurate, the surveys of the city ever since, dating from this exact point hitherto, have been imperfect and full of tribulations to our business population; and it is believed in the future nothing short of a series of law-suits and a volume of Supreme Court reports will cut the Gordian knot of the disputed inches of boundary lines on our principal thoroughfares.

Since the war Raleigh has made vast strides towards commercial importance.
At one time cramped and oppressed, with all her sister cities vying in assuaults upon her prosperity, she can now rely upon the exertions of her own citizens in whose hands her most glorious future is placed. Loving her as a child does its good and beautiful mother we can all say: "City of O.ks, esto perpetua!"

OXFORD ITEMS.—We are indebted to our Oxford correspondent for the following items sent us yesterday:

We regret to learn that a number of our enterprising citizens, members of the well known Reams family, intend leaving Granville county for other portions of the State, where they hope to improve their pecuniary prospects.
They have succeeded well at Reamston, and in going to larger fields for the exercise of their business experience, we hope their success will be proportionately greater.

Mr. Green A. Reams proposes to open a tobacco commission house at Fayetteville, N. C., about the first of May.

Mr. D. C. Reams will locate at Wake Forest for the purpose of manufacturing tobacco.

H. A. Reams is now successfully running a warehouse at Durhams. Mr.
J. M. Reams is now at Durhams and will probably open a tobacco factory there at no distant day.

Mr. C. F. Reams will settle in Raleigh and continue the manufacture of tobacco at that city.

Besides being famous for fine tobacco, Granville is destined to take high rank as a section famous for the inventive genius of her sons.

Mr. Bowden's invention for curing tobacco on an improved plan is an established success, so also is Mr. J. M.
Reams' Fertilizer Drill, as both of these gentlemen have disposed of a part of their interest in their inventions at an excellent price.

Mr. John L. Jones has obtained patents on Improved Tobacco Machinery which, if they accomplish one-half of what he confidently claims for them, will revolutionize the mode of manufacturing tobacco. A description of his inventions was published a short time ago in the News.

Dr. Willis Lewis, is now absent on a patent to Washington City, to get out a patent on an improved Harrow, which is spoken of by himself and others who tried it last year, as a great labor-saving machine. He contends that with it one horse will do the work of two, and that it will save one-half the labor in the cultivation of corn, cotton or tobacco.

The new granary of Mr. Alexander Crow was blown down a few days ago.
Loss about one hundred and fifty dollars.

WELDON ITEMS.—Our Weldon correspondent, under date of yesterday furnishes us the following items:

A shooting affair that resulted fatally occurred in Northampton last Saturday.
It seems there was a disagreement between Mr. Jno. D. Edwards and his son-in-law, Mrs. Branch, whose two sons taking up the quarrel shot Edwards who died yesterday.

The Branches fled and have not yet been arrested.

H. D. Edwards has advertised a reward of $300 for the arrest of the alleged murderers of his brother, Jno. D.
D. Edwards.

I learned this morning of another fatal shooting affair below Halifax.
A white man named Wilkins and a colored man named Titus Tillery were shooting at the mark.

It seems nobody was immediately present, and a short time after they stopped shooting at the mark one other shot was heard and Wilkins cried out to a colored woman a short distance off, "there now, I've killed Titus."

Hays, colored—formerly in the Legislature—was appointed Coroner and summoned a jury of two whites and two colored; they could not agree, the whites regarding the affair as accidental, while the blacks called it murder.
Another jury, all black, was then called and a verdict of murder rendered.

Hays then required bail of Wilkins in $10,000, which was given.

I learn that Hays instructed his jury that they had to call it murder.

LECTURE AND CASK PRESENTATION.
As we have heretofore announced Edward Carswell, Esq., will again lecture in this city on Thursday evening next, at Metropolitan Hall. We understand that at the conclusion of the lecture, Mr. Theo. N. Ramsay will, on behalf of Hickman Lodge, Good Templars, present Mr. Carswell with a handsome gold headed cane as a testimonial of the good will and esteem of the fraternity in this city.

TWO MORE UNFORTUNATES—GONE TO THEIR FATE.—During the past week, two bachelor Editors of the North Carolina press have entered into the matrimonial noose. W. L. Thorp, of the Rocky Mount Mail and M. J.
McSweeney, of the Fayetteville Eagle.

We wish these gentlemen the full measure of bliss, but for ourselves we prefer to roam in freedom a little longer.
[Note. Woodson is at Johnston Court.]

EXCHANGE.—We learn that Judges Clarke and Russell will exchange circuits so far as Greene and Duplin counties are concerned. So Judge Russell will hold the Spring term of Greene county Superior Court and Judge Clarke the Spring term of Duplin county.

APPOINTED COMMISSIONER.—Andrew Hero, Jr., has been appointed Commissioner of Deeds for North Carolina, resident in New Orleans. The appointment of Mr. Hero was recommended by the so-called Governor of Louisiana, W. P. Kellogg.

"SOCIABLE."—The ladies of Oak City Council Friends of Temperance, will give a "Sociable" at Temperance Hall, over Gullies' store, on Friday night next, the 28th. Ice Cream, Cake and other good things will be served to the guests. Price of admission 50 cts. Tickets can be had at Mr. Brown's Book store.

ATTENTION BOYS.—I respectfully invite all the boys in Raleigh, from twelve to twenty years old, to meet me at "Oak City Hall," on Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Come out, boys, I want to enlist you all in the Temperance Army.
THEO. N. RAMSAY.

SELECTED POETRY
WHEN THE WIND BLOWS.

Oh, the dancing of the leaves,
When the wind blows!
And the rushing noise of trees, Shouting, shrieking on the seas, Like the sound of settling seas,
When the wind blows!

Oh, the bending of the bows,
When the wind blows!
The quaver and the quiver Of reeds along the river—
The shudder and the shiver—
When the wind blows!

Oh, the shifting of the clouds,
When the wind blows!
Sailing swiftly on between The wide blue world and the green, Casting stripes of shade and sheen,
When the wind blows!

Oh, the drifting of the snow,
When the wind blows!
Showing, in the cold moonlight, Fallen trees hid under white, Like great ghosts in bed at night,
When the wind blows!

Oh, the comfort of the fire,
When the wind blows!
To hear the song and chat
Of the kettle and the cat,
And the crackle on the mat,
When the wind blows!

[From the Richmond Whig.]
THE HEIRS OF GEORGE STEPHENS.— Who was George Stephens? All we know is that he was a fugitive slave from Virginia, who managed to reach the city of New York without the consent of his master, and that he worked there as a stevedore until one day he was seen by a Virginia acquaintance.
The recognition was mutual, and George thought it best for him to remove, which he did, to Troy, New York. At Troy he set up as a white-washer, and in course of time became the principal operator there in that line of business. But he always seemed poor. No increase in business appeared to better his circumstances. He continued to live in rags and squalor.
What became of his money, nobody knew. One day Gen. Stephens failed to be visible about his accustomed haunts. An old sympathizing colored woman found him lying among the rags and broken furniture in his hovel. She waited upon him, and him, and did everything she could to get him on his legs again. He said he was very grateful to her for her kindness, and was sorry he was so poor that he could not pay her in better coin.
This he said, and died. He had mentioned the Hon. John B. Pierson as the only friend he had in the world, and Pierson was sent for. He came. Several colored people who had helped the white-washer in his abject poverty came.
Pierson asked for the clothes the old man had last worn. Their pockets were empty. An old trunk was opened. It was filled with rags. The rags were tumbled out. A piece of newspaper supposed to contain tobacco, rolled upon the floor. Next a black oil-cloth, which was heavy, was taken out and found to contain gold. The search became eager. In the bottom of the trunk a large leather pocket-book was found stuffed full of bank notes. A printed report of the commissioners of the poor closed a ten or twenty dollar bill between every two leaves. The savings bank books were discovered, one showing deposits to the amount of $2,800 and the other $1,400, and no drafts.
The newspaper package which had been passed upon, as tobacco was examined and found to be full of bank notes.
In the bottom of the trunk was found a will by which he had made Mr. Pierson his executor and devised his entire estate, over $10,000 by the count, to his wife and children supposed to be in Virginia.

Who are these heirs? Are wife and children, or any of them living? It is said that certain colored persons residing near this city claim to be the heirs, and have taken steps toward establishing their rights. Can anybody give us the Virginia antecedents of George Stephens and tell us who these heirs are that have turned up in this vicinity?

This Company has steadily pursued two great practical ends:
FIRST.
To place its policies beyond the power of adverse contingencies.
SECOND.
To reduce the actual outlay of its mem-rate. To accomplish this, it allows him to retain from 20 to 30 per cent. of the first premium as a permanent credit or loan, and to retain from each subsequent premium that portion of the previous year's full premium actually proved to be surplus; so that at no time does the Company take
